

December 2022 Newsletter

From the Editor

With the shortening of daylight and the weather bouncing like a yo-yo from nice to nasty, it sure is taking a toll on not only my but everyone's' arthritis. Hopefully it will soon settle into a normal seasonal temperature.

Well, Christmas lights are getting hung as well as trees are being put up in preparation for this festive celebration. It's not too late to still make that perfect placemat for that special friend or pick up a gift certificate.

Waiting all year for Christmas is so much easier with a fantastic client like you. May your Christmas season be as wonderful as you make our year. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

On a final note, we will be closing for a little holiday beginning December 21, 2022. We will be returning to open our doors again on January 10, 2023. Our mini vacation will take us to California to visit with my husband's son and as we are driving, I hope to stop at a few quilt shops along the way.

Moody Blues Table Runner

Learn and perfect flying geese. The rotating pinwheels are made with just 6 ten-inch squares to give it that scrappy look. Add a couple of borders and you can finish this in an afternoon. Since it is 37-inches, the backing can be cut from the width of fabric so there is very little waste. Don't you love it when the math works?
